

Transition Center at Mayfield

“The Empowerment Model”

Michael Bausano
Kent Intermediate School District

History

- 2011 - Stakeholder Team (Exploration Phase)
  - Implementation Science (IS) model used to structure team planning efforts
  - KISD, GRPS and IS Consultant
  - Aim - Revamp secondary transition services using Implementation Science framework (six stage model).
  - Result – strategic movement away from traditional instruction methods to a facilitated inquiry model
- 2012 – Initially, two teaching staff and weekly coaching (Installation Phase)
- 2014 – Center-wide implementation (Implementation Phase)

Transition Center at Mayfield

- 10 – Teachers
- 30 – Employment Training Specialists
- 4 – Administration and Support Staff
- 6 – MoCI programs
- 2 – HI, VI and PI programs
- 2 – Community Classrooms
  - St. Mary's
  - First Place
- 2 - Community Based Occupational Training (CBOT)
  - GVSU Eberhard Center
  - Faith Lutheran Church

Current Snapshot: ICEs can occur at the Center or in the community. Presently all community ICEs occur in the morning...with the young adults returning to the Center for the afternoon.

Key Features

KENT ISD TRANSITION SERVICES PROGRAM

Key Features

- ♦ Guiding Principles
- ♦ End Game Matrix
- ♦ Stakeholder Team Meetings
- ♦ Individualized Learning Plans
- ♦ Personal Jigs
- ♦ Data Collection
- ♦ Intentionality
- ♦ ICEs vs Field Trips

Guiding Principles

- The young adult voice is valued and respected
  - Services are driven by transition domain data
  - Young adults are provided services based on identified need not eligibility criteria
  - Key stakeholders play a critical role
  - Services are efficient and cost effective
  - ALL staff engage and support ALL students
- Note: The Key Features and Guiding Principles prevent operational drift from the model's intent and structure. Visibly present in multiple locations.

Guiding Principles

KENT ISD TRANSITION SERVICES PROGRAM

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

- ◆ Student voice is valued and respected
- ◆ Services are driven by transition domain data
- ◆ Students are provided services based on need not eligibility criteria
- ◆ Key stakeholders play a critical role in the design of student services
- ◆ Services are efficient and cost effective and based on data requirements or evidence
- ◆ ALL staff support and engage ALL students

Intentionality

- Individualized, Focused and Purposeful
- Vision – Self-selected skills
  - ILP activities
  - ICEs
- Paradigm shift for staff – Change how they see things, change what they do...no longer expert instructors, but talented facilitators of the young adult's discovery process
- Paradigm shift for young adults – Change how they see things...change what they do

Stakeholder Team Meetings

- Goal - Initial meeting conducted during home visit
- Follow-up meetings scheduled 2-3 times per year at the Center
- Discovery Staging Record serves as a guide to facilitate inquiry
- Develops short term vision and activities
- Who is there?
  - Young Adult
  - Parent/Guardian
  - Peers
  - Community Agency
  - Staff
  - Others as identified

Discovery Staging Record – Page 1

Discovery Short Survey

Student's Name (DOB: _____) Date: _____

#1 _____

#2 _____

#3 _____

b. List 3 things the student has taught you.

#1 _____

#2 _____

#3 _____

c. If you could read his / her mind, what do you think is most important to this student?

d. Describe how you picture the student's life after high school.

e. List what you think are the MOST IMPORTANT things for the student to learn at school?

f. What tasks or activities does the student enjoy doing the most? How do you know he/she likes these activities?

g. List and/or describe any new school activities you think that the student would enjoy being a part of and how you might be able to facilitate his/her involvement.

h. What strategies and supports, that are typically required for this student to learn and participate in activities, work best?

i. What specific job or jobs do you think this student would like to have when he/she graduates from high school?

j. Is there anything else you think the team should know about this student to assist in planning for his future?

Individual Learning Plans

- Aim - Maximum day-to-day functional performance w/ minimum external supports and prompts from staff
- Developed by young adult and stakeholder team
- Drives individualized and intentional activities
- Reflects young adult voice
- Self-selection of skills needed for meet vision

Individual Learning Plans

- Developed through a shared exploration process -
  - Vision – “Let’s brainstorm...what do you want to do and how would you like your life to be after you leave Mayfield?”
  - Priorities – “What is most important to you...what do you want to learn and do better to achieve your vision?”
  - Skills – “What skill(s) will you need to develop in order to achieve your priorities?”
  - Matrix/ESTR – “Where are your current skill abilities relative to the priority skills you will develop?”
  - ICE – “What kind of intentional community experience can we develop together for you to learn and practice your new skill(s)?”
  - Jigs – “What type of Jig(s) will you need to help you become more independent?”
  - Data – “How often will we collect data at your ICE to show you are learning your new skills with the help of your Jig(s)?”

Individual Learning Plan (ILP) Form

End Game Matrix

- Serves as a visual jig to track young adult's skill acquisition from more-to-less dependence on external prompts
  - Identify.....Practice.....Use.....Demonstrate
- Aligns with the four transition domains
  - Employment
  - Education
  - Training
  - Independent Living

Personal Jigs

- Reduces dependence on the presence and prompting of another person to accomplish a desired task
- Specific to the needs and abilities of the young adult
- Young adult voice is critical in the development of the Jig
  - Examples – Visual calendars, schedules, task lists, scripts, instructions and natural community supports found in the young adult's environment

ICES vs Field Trips

- “Intentional, individualized and purposeful” community experiences are developed, with the aid of the Preparation Form, to use practice, and demonstrate skills learned
- Aligned with the young adult’s postsecondary vision

Preparation Form

Name:

Date:

Exploration Activity:		Notes:
Which domain will you be working on?
Which domain skill will you be working on?
How can staff help you prepare for this activity?
What do you hope to get out of this activity?
What did you get out of this activity?
What would you do differently next time?

Data Collection

- Data collection is embedded in the ICE process
- Meaningful quantifiable data – level of prompt dependence
- Reviewed by the stakeholder...removes subjectivity
- Drives instruction and activities
- Meaningful data to show utilization and usefulness of Jigs.

Where We Are Now

- Continued overall forward progress...slow and steady gains
- Increased staff buy-in and understanding of the model
- Perceptual shift from students in a high school setting to a training center for young adults
- All young adults have a completed one ILP w/ three priorities
- All young adults are working on their ILP at least once each day
- Common understanding and expectations of data collection
- All staff collect data on one student each day
- Alignment of the ESTR and Matrix to support continuing skill identification and development

Coming Attractions

- Staff meetings...ongoing w/ current focus on capacity-building and data-collection
- Center data profile...student survey and skill distribution on Matrix
  - Most students currently fall within the Identify and Practice domains
- Professional Development Opportunities – Employment Training Specialists
  - Interviewing Techniques and Active Listening (3/24)
  - Environmental Analysis...Activities, Tasks and Skills (3/27)

Thank You!
